A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams' (an Indian remedy) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electrics do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

For sale by George T. Wood or mailed on receipt of price, $1.

Skin Diseases Cured

BY DR. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cure as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.

F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases ever discovered.

For blind, bleeding, itching or ulcerated piles. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is a sure cure. Price $1, by mail. For sale by George T. Wood, druggist.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

LAUGHING HYENAS.

The Man Who Amputated the Lion's Leg
Tames the Amiable Brutes.
[Philadelphia Press.]

A spare, peculiarly shaped man was the beast tamer, with a limping gait and a heavy gash in his cheek. One ear is missing from his head and three fingers from his left hand. One thing was noticeable, and that was the determined commanding expression in his eyes. They were wreathed in the shaggiest eyebrows and lashes of a reddish hue, and peered from the man's overhanging brows like live coals.

"One winter, a out fifteen years ago, I seed an advertisement in the paper which said that a man was wanted as would take care of and tame hyenas, apply to A. B., box 24, Herald office. I answers A. B., and says: 'I'll take that job, yours truly, Y. Z., box 42.' That brought me together with a certain showman, as you know as well as I do. After arranging wot I was to get for the business, he takes me to the den, and there were two of the unpleasantest as I had ever seen in a show or anywhere else. 'They're a little skittish,' says the showman. 'You bet,' says I; 'how they do lurf.' Well I got those hyenas put into solitary confinement, and for about two weeks I tried my hardest to mash 'em. I fed 'em, I tickled 'em with a six-foot pole in the ribs, I got hot irons and burned the ends of their snouts, I woke 'em up with pails of ice water in the middle of the night, just to show 'em my power, and the darned animals lurfed harder than ever. This aggravated me awful, and I determined to try conclusions with 'em, face to face, in the cage; so I armed myself with a thong of leather with a loaded handle, and one fine morning I entered the lodging of Hyena No. 1 with a pork chop for his breakfast. He immediately flew at me, and I hit him a crack over the head, which would have killed a bullock. All he does is to cruch in a corner of the cage for about two minutes, and lurf as if he'd break his sides, then he suddenly jumps at me and got his fangs in my arm just above my elbow. I hits away at his carcass with all my force, and at last he let go and slunk away to his corner, which gave me a chance of getting outside of the bars. I was pretty badly bitten, but I got the wound cauterized, and the next day I goes for my hyena-friend again, and with the same result on both sides; he nearly got his skull broken, and I got another bite, this time on the leg. I was thinking as I was eating my dinner in front of the hyenas' cages, a day or two after, that I had better give up the business. 'I should like to make you lurf on the other side of your infernal mouth just once,' says I aloud, and up comes the two animals to the front of their dens, and a stretching of their jaws, they gave me a succession of smiles which would have roused the temper of an angel. I happened to have a caster of red pepper on the table; and an idea struck me, I empties a handful of the pepper in my hand, and walks up to the durned skunk as bit my arm and shies it in his face and down his throat. Holy Moses, how he did jump round! He rolled and wriggled and screwed himself about like a bug on a needle, but he never uttered a sound. There wasn't a lurf left in him. It was three days before he smiled again, and then I enters his cage once more. He made ready to spring. I gave him another handful of pepper. I kept up that game for over six weeks, and at the end of that time my two hyenas were as tame as rabbits, for I put the other one through the same treatment. All I had to do at last was to enter their dens with a red bottle in my hands; that was enough. A motion from my hand and they would crouch in their corners as quiet and as peaceful like as baby elephants. I afterward taught those two animals to do all sorts of tricks, and became so accustomed to their lurfing that I quite enjoyed it. I traveled a good deal with the show to which these animals belonged; they were called the only tame hyenas in the world, and made the boss a lot of money. After staying with 'em two years I left for a place with another showman as offered me more money."

The Sale of Longfellow's Works.

The sale of various works of his from 1839 to 1857 amounted to 325,550 volumes. From 1867 to 1881 there were sold 194,000 copies of his collected works, in four different editions. In 1881 more than 45,000 copies of his works were sold, and in the same year 15,000 copies of the "Birthday Book," edited by Miss Bates. It is estimated that in Great Britain and Ireland not less than 30,000 copies of his books are sold annually, this being far more than of any other living poet; while in Canada his books find a greater sale than those of any other four living poets combined.

With plenty of shad and other fresh fish in market, it is well to give steaks and chops the go-by.

Points of Manifest Destiny.

Why! an ox hide in Honduras can be obtained for a pair of shoes; you can get nux vomica enough to fill a drug store for an ax; you can obtain sufficient quicksilver to load a mule with stone jars of it for a few cheap mirrors; what, then, will be the result when the engines of the American Railway reach into the country where Cortez and Vasco carried away two thousand millions of treasure? —Boston Transcript.

THE parson extended the box to Bill, and he slowly shook his head. "Come, William, give something," said the parson. "Can't do it," said Bill. "Why not? Is not the cause a good one?" asked he. "Yes, good enough; but I am not able to give anything," answered Bill. "Pooh! pooh! I know better; you must give me a better reason than that." "Well, I owe too much money; I must be just before I am generous, you know." "But, William, you owe heaven a larger debt than you owe any one else." "That's true, parson; but heaven ain't pushing me like the rest of my creditors." —Old Anecdote.

Advice to Sir Charles.

When Sir Charles Lyell, the eminent geologist, was in America, he seems to have had some curious advice given to him about traveling on the Mississippi steamboats.

"Never pay your fare until you are compelled to," was the first of wisdom thrown at him.

"And pray why not?" he queried, with English straightforwardness.

"Because," was the almost whispered reply, "your chances are better in case of trouble."

"Will you kindly explain yourself, sir?" said Lyell, astonished, beyond measure.

"Well," answered the American, with a very significant leer, "when I was traveling up the river last March, somebody cried out, 'Passenger overboard!' The captain hurried to the office, and asked, 'Has the man overboard paid his fare?' On being answered in the affirmative, he turned to the pilot, and said, indifferently, 'Go ahead; it's all right.'"

It was an Ohio woman who invented the porous plaster. She covered a cloth with glue and wax and clapped it on the old man's back to drive out the rheumatism.

W. P. PHILLIPS, manager of the Associated Press office at Washington, has been removed from his position, for permitting Mr. Blaine to revise the report of his testimony before the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

The Cincinnati May Festival Association, with nearly twice as many soloists and a larger orchestra than in 1880, and after an outlay of $40,000 for chorus expenses, finds itself with a fund of $21,500 on hand with which to begin operations for the next Festival.

The only hope that continues to animate the regular republican breast is that there will be some democratic blundering. The stronger this hope grows the better effect it will have on the democratic party to do no blundering. The democracy this year is quietly moving around in its soft-skin moccasins.

The 5 per cent. land bill has passed the senate. The measure provides that lands entered by military scrip and bounty land warrants in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Oregon, Nevada and Colorado, including the Virginia military and the United States military land warrants located in Ohio should be construed to come within the provisions of the law for the payment to the states of 5 per cent. of the proceeds of public lands disposed of within their borders; the lands to be estimated at the rate of $1.25 an acre and to be paid for in cash.

The reluctance of the Committee on Foreign affairs to recall the witness Shipherd, is said to be because Shipherd now proposes to go outside the track marked out for him and tell all he knows about Ex-Secretary Blaine's South American transactions. He has offered to produce a letter from the private Secretary of President Garfield in which it is stated that the letters missing from the files of the State Department had been given to Mr. Blaine. The disappearance of these letters was one of the main questions the committee was directed to investigate. Mr. Blaine in his testimony made light of the matter and swore he knew nothing about them. The committee, in the interest of the Ex-Secretary, seems to be afraid to question Shipherd fully.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Stephen Hof, a son of Gustave Hof, was drowned in Lincoln Park Lake, Cincinnati, yesterday.

Unusually cold weather is reported in the Northwest, and snow has fallen in several localities.

The St. Louis Cooperative Furniture Company have made an assignment to J. E. Bond for the benefit of creditors.

The appointment of Colonel Brackenberry as Inspector General of Irish Constabulary has been canceled, and Colonel Bruce appointed.

At Madison, Indiana, Saturday night, August Stroh, aged about sixty, died from the effects of a dose of laudanum, taken with suicidal intent.

Levi H. Epler, a farmer living near Greencastle, Indiana, was instantly killed, Saturday night, by falling from a railroad bridge on a pile of stone.

Bennie Kantner, aged sixteen, was brained with an axe by a Hungarian, at Pottsville, Pa., a party of whom were annoyed by a band of boys.

The coroner's jury in the Marquis murder case at Parkersburg, West Virginia, returned a verdict that Reuben Marquis came to his death from wounds inflicted by a pistol in the hands of Joseph Paul.

An accommodation train on the Louisville and Nashville Road was thrown from the track near Verona, Ala., and the engine wrecked. The engineer, Thomas Sweeney, was so badly scalded that he died soon after.

By a tornado in Mountain township, Pike county, Ark., on the 10th inst., Wm. shields, a prominent planter, and two children were killed and his wife fatally injured. Sixteen dwellings in that locality were destroyed.

Mrs. Hiram Williams, of Young Hickory, O., while out skiff-riding with her brother-in-law, named Ernst, on the lake at Cleveland, Sunday, was drowned by the upsetting of the boat. Ernst was rescued while clinging to the upturned boat.

Among the deaths reported Sunday, were Judge Martin Crain, a prominent lawyer of Portsmouth, O., who died suddenly of paralysis of the brain, and Henry Highwood, of South Charleston, O., aged ninety, one of the most prominent Odd Fellows in the state.

James and John Troy, of San Francisco, were brothers and close friends, and when James' wife dreamed that she saw them fighting with knives, they laughed at her serious view of the matter. Two nights later they were carousing together in a saloon. A quarrel arose, they drew their pocket knives and fought, and James was killed.

While Silas Rayl, his wife, two children and a hired man were fording the North branch of the Vermillion River, near Danville, Illinois, the wagon was overturned by the force of the water, and Mrs. Rayl and one of the children were carried down the stream and drowned. The father succeeded in reaching the shore with the other child. The hired man was rescued in a very exhausted condition.

Mrs. Dudley was shopping in a Chicago dry goods store. She is a sister-in-law of the mayor of that city and altogether reputable. She was astonished when a clerk accused her of stealing a handkerchief, and refused to submit to a search. They dragged her shrieking and struggling into a private room, tore upon her clothes, and did not find the handkerchief. When her husband was told of this he hurried to the store and gave the clerk a thrashing. He also brought suit for $10,000 damages, but as the clerk was likely to be confined to bed a week by his injuries, he consented to let that fact and $500 satisfy him.

Circus day is a day of grief as well as joy in Paterson, N. J., for a circus in that city means loss to the manufactures, because thousands of mill hands become so demoralized at the prospect of seeing a show that the mills must shut down. Attempts have been made to keep the hands at work on circus days, but after the girls jumped out of the windows resistance was abandoned, and now many mills voluntarily close on circus day. It is a great day, however, for shopkeepers and vendors, for from sunrise far into the night the streets are crowded with country visitors, in addition to the twenty-five thousand mill hands. The municipal authorities of Paterson attempted at one time to put up the licenses for circuses to $1,000 in order to keep them away, but the efforts failed.

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensible to Merchants Shippers And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

Isn't it about time we were hearing from those public fountains, promised the city some time ago? There were to be two we believe.

The following from an exchange refers to a rule that ought to be adopted by the railroad company here:

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company are taking rigid measures to prevent boys from playing about the depot at this place. Any children found there unless sent on an errand, will be notified to leave and if they still persist in trespassing on the property will be arrested and punished by law. Parents should be careful to see that their children are kept away from the building as it is certainly a dangerous place; trains are arriving and departing at both ends of the depot almost constantly.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cochran and family, Mayor January and wife, Miss Anna Douglas January and Mr. W. A. January have gone to Lebanon, Ky., to be present at the marriage of Mr. Andrew J. Cochran and Miss Lucy McElroy.

MR BENNETT, of the New York Herald, at whose expense the ill-fated Jeannette Arctic expedition was sent out, has signified his intention to provide for the widows and orphans of those who have perished. It is no more than just that he should do so. Had the expedition been successful the benefit to him could not have been measured by a money standard. As it is, the burden occasioned by its failure, falls where it properly belongs. The Herald in announcing Mr. Bennett's intention, says: "With or without the action of congress or of the public, care will be taken of the widow and orphan of DeLong, and not of them alone, but of every widow and of every orphan of the men who sailed with the Jeannette and have perished."

CAPTAIN BURROWS, of the steamship Rio GRANDE, has accomplished a feat which sea-faring men say is not only brilliant and unusual but unprecedented. His steamer, with many passengers on board, caught fire at sea, off the coast of Delaware. He ran her into shoal water, transferred the passengers from the burning vessel to a bark, sunk his steamer, raised her again, overtook the bark, received the passengers again and brought them safely to New York. The papers are loud in the praise of this brave and skillful seaman.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer says:

The Laura L. Davis returned from Maysville yesterday. Captain Woodburn is spoken of in the highest terms by the President of the Maysville race track. He is one of our old reliable gentlemen, dyed in the wool. The city councilmen treated him with great courtesy, and the citizens returned him many thanks, and expressed the desire that he would be with them at the fall races.

VANCEBURG, KY., May 22.—W. H. Cremans, of Hood's P. O., had a store and house burned recently. It had been fully insured by Wm S Rand, who paid the amount to him on the 13th inst.

Our present county assessor, Socrates Holbrook, appeared before United States Commissioner Rand on the 20th inst., gave bond, was sworn and duly installed as U S Deputy Marshal for this district. Garrison Hills and Esq. S J Rayburn were his bondsmen.

The Sample Silver Cornet Band, of fourteen pieces, James H. Ellis, leader, and Prof R Smith, instructor, was named after our popular district, R Sample. They made a creditable display Friday last, and in the small hours of the night complimented the BULLETIN writer with some stirring and hair raising music. A speech was demanded but as they declined to accept it on disabille the cause was continued for defendant.

In the absence of the pastor of the Christian Church, Ex-senator George T Halbert fills the pulpit creditably to himself and instructively to the congregation.

Mrs Jacob W Rand, Miss Lucy Rand Henry and her two daughters, are visiting Mrs Eliza J Rand at Concord.

Rev Mr Wright preached a telling sermon a few days ago, on "Mind Your Own Business"—a fruitful subject.

MARRIED.

In Flemingsburg, Ky., by the Rev. Father Hickey, in presence of Rt. Rev. Bishop Toebe and numerous other friends, the blessing of the Roman Catholic Church pronounced upon the civil marriage contracted between MARY G. GILMORE, of Maysville, Ky., and HENRY M. DARNALL, of Cincinnati. The mother of the bride and Mr. Silas Kane, witnesses. Cincinnati and Georgetown, O., papers please copy.

DIED.

At her residence in Mason county, April 25th, Mrs. MARY B. FOREMAN, consort of Thomas M. Foreman, deceased, in the 73rd year of her age.

Mrs. F. was baptised by Elder G. Mason, about 40 years ago, and united with the Maysick Baptist Church. Upon the constitution of the Lewisburg Church, in 1843, she entered into that organization, as one of the constant members, where she continued to hold her membership until removed by death. Her death was sudden—unexpected, but she was not unprepared. Few lives have been so pure, and none more unblameable—unselfish, and self-sacrificing for the good of others. As a wife, mother, friend, she was a model. As a christian, she was faithful and sincere, and was tenderly loved and highly esteemed—not only by those of her own communion, but by all who knew her. In her removal, society has lost a valued member—the poor a sympathising and earnest friend—the church one of its brightest ornaments, and her children, a mother whose memory will be a benediction while life lasts. May they follow her, even as she followed Christ. But they sorrow not as those without hope.

"For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him."

Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep;
"From which none ever wakes to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes."

"Asleep in Jesus! Oh, for me
May such a blissful refuge be;
Securely shall my ashes lie,
And wait the summons from on high."

Guiteau.

It may reasonably be concluded that Guiteau, will hang as sentenced, and that there is no earthly hope for him.

After the delivery of the opinion the prisoner will be taken at once to a solitary cell in the jail where he is now confined, and placed under continued guard, better known as the "Death Watch." Every action will be observed up to the fatal moment, and not a word will be permitted to be spoken to him except by his spiritual adviser or by persons specially authorized by Warden-General Crocker, who has entire charge of and the responsibility for the assassin from this time on until his dead body is ready to be consigned to the doctors for a post-mortem examination.

District Attorney Corkhill has determined upon an examination of the brain of the assassin by a board of eminent medical experts in the United States, to put at rest, as he believes, forever, the question of his sanity. After the autopsy the body will be delivered to the relatives of the doomed man, if any of them call for it.

Forgot She Was Married.

It is related of an absent-minded young lady that, having been duly married, she started off on her bridal tour. The party stopped at a western city. So far so good. Some time in the night there came a succession of terrified shrieks from the room occupied by the bride and groom, and the clerks, porters and employes generally rushed up stairs, only to meet a frantic female figure, clad in white, fleeing in desperate haste from her apartment, crying:

"O, there's a man in my room."
The clerk rushed in and found the groom half disrobed standing in the middle of the floor, one boot on and the other in his hand, the picture of amazement. He explained that he had just come up stairs and was in the act of undressing (his wife had previously retired) when she suddenly awoke with a shriek and fled.

"What's the matter?" asked the clerk.

"Dunifino," said the husband.
Just then the bride, enveloped in a huge headscarf, procured for her by a chambermaid, came back, looking very red and foolish, and in half a minute explained the mystery by saying:

"Oh, Fred, I forgot I was married, and when I awoke I was so frightened."—Ex.

THE WORKSHOP.

THERE have been proposed circular saws made of three layers, each side cast steel and the middle tough wrought iron.

A NEW slate-frame is made from strips of pasteboard, hard felting, or the like, molded and cemented together, and which is designed to obviate the disagreeable noise made by pupils in using the ordinary wooden frame.

To GET a gear wheel off a shaft upon which it has been shrunk it is recommended to pour some melted iron around the hub, by which operation the latter will expand so quickly that there will be no time for the shaft to get hot, and the gear will come off easily.

SUTTON says that he improved a high priced modern circular saw by removing about three-fourths of the teeth, leaving three times the usual space between the remainder; this would give more than three times the usual space. Mr. Sutton considers that eight teeth is enough for a saw five feet in diameter.

THE "Woodpecker" saw, worked at an early period in sawing large logs in California, was a considerable length of a common straight saw, with a hole in the center, and mounted on a shaft so as to rotate in the same manner as the circular saw. It had only two teeth, one at each end. It required plenty of power.

A NOVELTY in the utilization of wire fences consists in insulating one of the continuous wires, and connecting its ends with the opposite poles of a battery. Animals coming in contact with this wire will receive a shock from the electric current, which will effectually deter them, it is said, from attempting to break down or override fences of this description.

ONE of the hardest woods in existence is that of the desert ironwood tree, which grows in the dry washes along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Its specific gravity is nearly the same as that of lignumvitæ, and it has a black heart so hard, when well seasoned, that it will turn the edge of an ax, and can scarcely be cut by a well-tempered saw. In burning it gives out an intense heat, and charcoal made from it is of unequalled quality.

A NEW and efficient process of manufacturing paper from straw consists in first cooking the straw, then reducing it to pulp, whereby the fiber is disintegrated, but not destroyed, and all the gluten and albumen of the straw is retained, and finally bleaching it in a vessel of novel construction, which obviates the introduction therein of any solid particles of alkali. It is said this process renders the paper tough and pliable. It is asserted, also, that this paper treated with glycerine assumes the consistency of leather.

MR. JOSHUA ROSE, a well-known mechanical writer, explains that the tendency of a nut to unwind and recede from the pressure upon its radial face is proportionate to the pitch of the thread and the diameter of the bolt; and the finer the thread upon a given diameter of bolt, or the larger the diameter of bolt with a given pitch of thread, the less will be the tendency of the nut to move back. In the case of ordinary bolts and nuts, a given diameter of bolt is given a standard pitch of thread, and these pitches are not so fine as to prevent the nuts from unscrewing in many cases, unless check nuts are used. It would be otherwise if the nut-thread fitted reasonably tight upon the bolt; for if the nut is screwed well home it should remain there.

A Georgia Dog With the Toothache.

Whoever heard of a dog with the toothache? Well, Augusta can boast of the novelty. The poor old fellow has been howling for a week with neuralgia of the jaw, and when his master, who is a thoughtful and considerate surgeon as well as an artist, discovered the cause of the canine's grief, he set to work to extract a whole row of decayed teeth in the dog's mouth. Now, this may seem absurd to some very ignorant people, but it is all true, and the poor dog held his mouth open and sat perfectly quiet while the teeth were being drawn. And yet some people think a dog has no sense or appreciation.—Augusta News
